

Approach to immunosuppression in severe COVID-19

The diagnosis and treatment of cytokine storm remains unknown and highly controversial. This is one general approach which could be reasonable, but treatment decisions should always be individualized.